Come spend the
evening with friends
and meet some new families.

Each early childhood classroom spent Wednesday celebrating some of their favorite books

that have been turned into movies. The day
started with everyone wearing
something green,
making green
milk, pudding and jell-o and reading Green Eggs and Ham by Dr. Seuss. Then students talked about some of their favorite movies and learned that most of the movies actually started out as books! Many were surprised to learn that The Little Mermaid, Beauty and the Beast, Cloudy with the Chance of Meatballs, How the Grinch Stole Christmas, Charlotte's Web, Polar Express and The Jungle Book were books first and because kids loved them so much, they were turned into movies. The day ended with the students eating green eggs and ham and watching the original cartoon. After the cartoon, the students compared the movie to the book and talked about the differences and the similarities. Everyone had such a great time and they cannot wait for the next book that will be in theaters soon.... Where the Wild Things Are!!!!
